FOUR EASY STEPS TO SPIRITUALLY FAIL

#1 - Stay Away from Growing Christians

One important factor in the direction of your life is your primary relationships. Passion is contagious. If you're around people who are passionate in their relationship with God, it will impact you. If you hang with people who are ignoring or running away from God you will ensure your downward spiral spiritually.

It's best to stay away from weekly worship with your church, because encountering God and His people will interfere with your path toward failure. Small groups are lethal. Stay away from them at all costs.

#2 - Tell Yourself What You Want to Hear

If you're going to fail, stay away from Truth. Self-deception is a skill you can hone into an art form. Live in denial. Compromise. Develop excuses for your behavior and why you can't change. If you don't like one of God's laws—ignore it! Or better yet, change it!

#3 - Avoid Time in the Presence of God

Quiet time is dangerous. Keep the TV on. Distract yourself constantly. Make sure your Bible is hard to find. If you don't, you will hear the Holy Spirit speaking to you about your negligence and calling you to Himself. Noise, entertainment, and distractions are key to eliminating the room necessary for the Holy Spirit to transform your life.

#4 - Live Only for the Moment /Give No Thought to Life's Meaning

Reflection hinders your path to spiritual malaise. If you consider eternity and what matters most to God, you will begin to make decisions leading to spiritual health and humility. Be hedonistic. Do what feels good and what provides you with great pleasure right now.

Don't evaluate how pleasure-seeking affects your life or the lives of those around you. That would smack of wisdom. Instead, choose foolishness. Foolishness and failure are linked. To fail spiritually, blame God and people around you for your problems. (J. Peake 2011)
